SOUTH WINDSOR HIGH SCHOOL

"Some men see things as they are and say why? I dream things that never were and say why not?"

Robert F. Kennedy

It was the best of times,

It was the worst of times,

It was the age of wisdom,

It was the age of foolishness.

Charles Dickens

It was the time of unity,

It was the time of individuality,

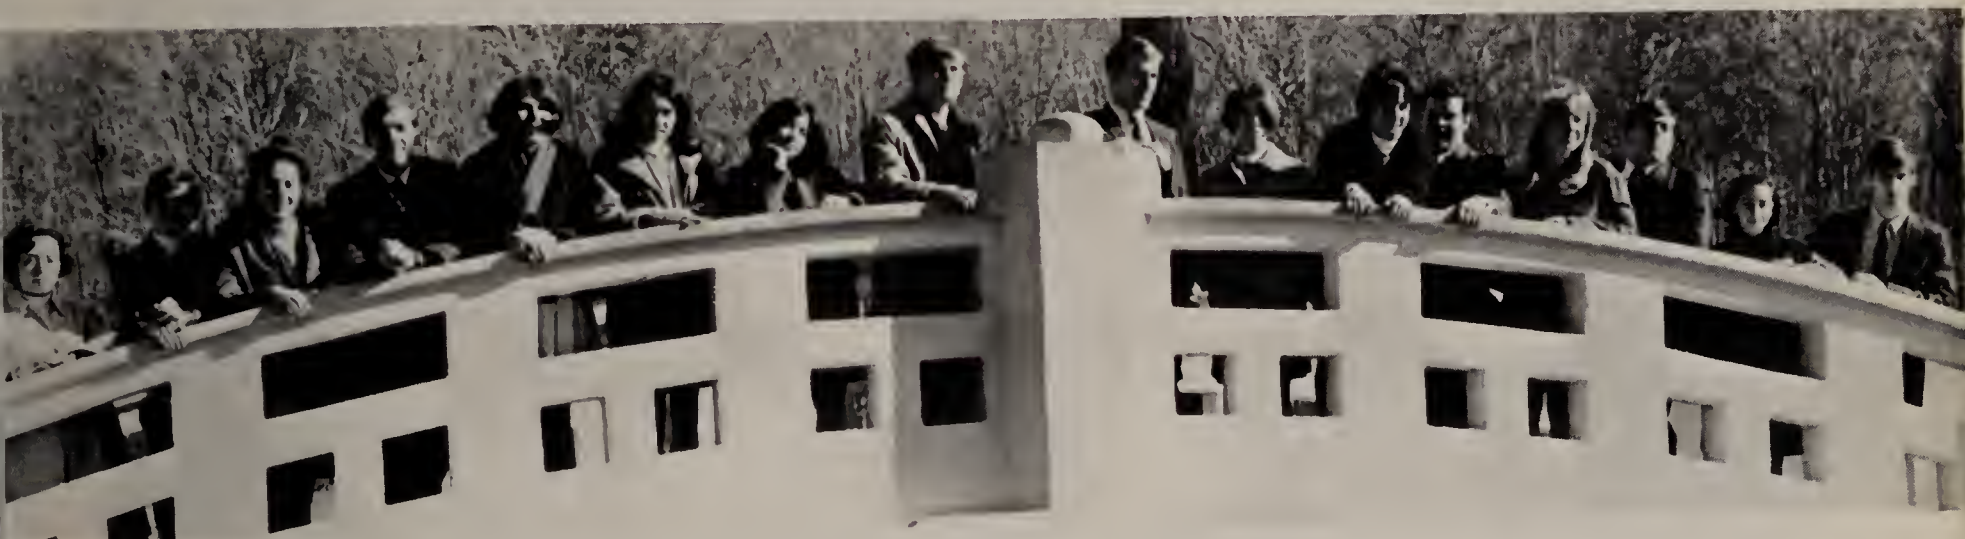

It was the spring of hope,

It was the winter of despair,

We had everything before us,

We have everything before us,

We have crossed the bridges of youth,

We will cross the bridges of life.

Seldom has any person gained the deep respect and confidence that Mr. Lawrence A. Brown has in three brief years. Mr. Brown has organized the largest and one of the most successful groups, the Outing Club. Throughout our senior year he has aided us in our social events and activities, not only as an advisor, but as a real friend.

His youthful ideas, leadership and individuality have strengthened the student-teacher relationship.

In appreciation for your untiring devotion, we, the Class of 1969, sincerely wish to thank you by dedicating our CENTURION to you, Mr. Brown.

Sue Roman and Jack Longo are busy working on the Class Will.

Claudette Chagnon and Lee Mills volunteered as the Class Poets.

Lee Mills uses her creative talents to write the Class History.

The D.A.R. Recipient for 1969 was Nancy Kuehn.

As Class Prophets, Vincent Prestileo and Debbie Roy forsee the future.

Sally Swanson, Chris Andersen, Alan Bolstridge, and Bob Singer write the Class Song.

REFLECTIONS ON A JUNE AFTERNOON

I sit in the sultry classroom—
The shimmering hotness of the sun
Filtering through the window,
Creating segmented patterns of light on my desk.
The solitary track shines dustily
Against the drying grass;
Trees along the courtyard wave
In response to hot breezes.
A bird with shiny red and black feathers glides uncertainly,
Lighting, yet taking flight again.
I too, like the bird, am torn with indecision.
Prepared to stand alone?

I think yes.
Yet life is confusion.
No more are things black or white.
I sometimes grope my way through a maze
Frantically searching a way out—
Often I find it—but what if I falter?
Endless chambers are being added on to this maze of life.
Will pages of hastily scribbled notes become knowledge?
Can inborn prejudices erode and understanding grow instead?
Will childish doubts emerge as certainty?
Am I ready to carry my crosses?
Have I learned to live?

Bobcats Crush Farmington

No Turnin' Back Now

BY GORDON SMITH
Sports Editor

Bristol — Like a lamb, suddenly pounced upon by a Bobcat, previously undefeated Farmington High never knew what hit it Friday night in the headliner of the Class B state tournament quarter-final round at beautiful Bristol Central High.

Tuned and coached to a razor sharp likeness, South Windsor's basketball team figuratively blew the Indians off the court like a cyclone ripping a town to splinters.

It wasn't even a close match as Coach Charlie Sharos' seventh-ranked Bobcats tore into the third-ranked Indians for an 81-60 victory, thus earning the right to meet defending champion and pre-tourney favorite Middletown Wednesday night at Central Connecticut State College in New Britain.

Roy Simply Fantastic

Sophomore sensation and All-State certainty Tommy Roy was simply fantastic as he employed his six-foot, seven-inch frame to score a career-high 43 points, just two short of the record established at South Windsor by Jim Baker in 1965.

Roy hit for the truly remarkable percentage of 78, making 18 field goals in 23 attempts and adding seven foul shots in 10 tries.

Yet he wasn't the whole show—just the hit of the show. Never before this season had the Bobcats put together such a team effort.

Stoddard Goes Wild

Renny Burger, Terry Stoddard, John Mason and John Bossi were exceptional. Stoddard actually provided the 'Cats with all the momentum they needed when he went on a wild scoring spree, connecting on his first three shots at the beginning of the game from difficult range.

Burger was the key to the 43-point output by Roy. Renny racked up a total of 14 assists as he fed Roy with beautiful passes all night and set up a couple of other shots for Mason and Stoddard.

Burger played what might be termed his best game of the year, despite scoring only five points. Renny pulled down 14 rebounds, second only to Roy's 19. "If Renny does that against Middletown," said his elated teammate Roy, "we'll surprise a lot of people."

Burger was a titan in the first half with 11 rebounds, eight assists and on defense.

Bossi Tough Again

Bossi also was outstanding on the boards, grabbing 10 missed shots, in addition to scoring six points and playing a fine defensive ballgame.

Mason, who does much damage due to his aggressive, scrappy style, did even more by scoring 14 points—including 10 for 13 from the foul line—and making five steals. John's major asset is quick hands, and he's used them to South Windsor's advantage in both tournament games thus far.

It will be remembered that it was Mason—who likes to be called "Duke"—that saved South from defeat in the first round by stealing the ball five times in the final quarter against Simsbury.

Was Over Early

Going into the running score of Friday's game wouldn't serve any purpose, for it was all over as quickly as it started. South took a first period lead of 24-11, increased it to 49-23 at half-time and 59-30 midway through the third period.

Farmington had won all 20 games it had played previously, 19 in the regular season and a first round tourney game over Killingly of Danielson.

Over 1,800 saw the game including South Windsor Superintendent of Schools Charles Warner, who exclaimed to Sharos after the game:

"We have a Board of Education meeting Wednesday, but we'll have to call it off now." That's the night South meets Middletown.

Daggett Leads Indians

Farmington's high scorer was Wayne Daggett with 15 points, nine coming in the final quarter when South relaxed and some of the starters were taken out of the game.

South made only three more field goals than Farmington (28-25), but again, Farmington made eight of those in the last quarter after making only nine in the entire first half when South hit for 16.

Also in double figures for Farmington were Mike Leary with 13 and Dave Follo with 10. The Indians' much publicized Gary Timura scored nine, six in the second half.

Tickets for Wednesday's game are on sale at SWHS. Bus sign-up sheets are also available.

BASKETBALL

Then there was John Mason. He's the comic in the group, but only when he's off the basketball court. In the game, he's the boy most likely to dive head first for the loose ball—and come up with it. There's no room for comedians on the floor, and he knows it.

But after a game he's different. "Don't forget, call me 'Duke'," he comments after almost every game. "Duke Mason . . . M-A-S-O-N."

Senior George Fortin, back on the guard roster after recovering from a broken thumb, was his cagey self.

Win
Terry is the kind of boy who gets discouraged when he doesn't play well. Trouble is, he doesn't realize that he always plays well, even if he doesn't score consistently at times. You see, Terry is the glue that helps hold this team together.

Bobcats Surge Continues

It seems that whenever tournament time in basketball games along, all one has to do is look in the paper and you'll find South Windsor right up there

Some friends and fellow coaches were attempting to console South Windsor High Coach Charley Sharos in the locker room at Central Connecticut's Kaiser Gym last night with words like "they did a great job," "nice try, coach," and "it was a great effort." But the guy who hit the nail on the head was the one who said "and they'll all be back next year."
